Mrs Carrie Ghent, wife of S. A. Ghent, formerly in the undertaking business here with his cousin, Mr. W. A. Cunningham, was killed while crossing the Northwestern railway tracks in their automobile near Ashton, Ill., last Thursday morning. Mr. Ghent, who is still in the hospital at Rochelle, is very badly injured internally and his recovery is doubtful. Interment was at Mt. Hope cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. Antonin Sterba and little son, of the Messenger, have returned from a sojourn on the Fox river, near St. Charles, Ill. Mr. Sterba had a studio built for himself in the spring on the Underwood estate, and during the summer supervised the addition of a complete cottage. This is situated in the heart of perhaps the only untouched timberland in the Fox river valley, with its towering trees, giant vines and almost tropical luxuriance of vegetation, no doubt much as when the Indians hunted through its wilds and plied their canoes on creek and river. Mrs. Sterba has named this retreat Woodland studio, and the Sterbas plan to spend three or more months there each year for recreation and study as long as the unsettled conditions of the country last.

SPECIAL EXPERT

In revealing defects in eyes. If your eyes trouble you or your glasses don't suit you, consult me, I may be able to do for you what medicine cannot do.
The majority of people have defective sight. A great number of people suffer from continuous pains in the head and eyes, from which they get no relief by taking drugs or medicine. In a majority of cases one or both eyes fail to perform their proper function of seeing. Every person suffering that way should have their eyes examined and scientifically tested.
More nervous diseases are cured by scientific and properly fitted glasses than by drugs.

All Englewood Should Unite to Give Soldiers Farewell.

Nearly a thousand Englewood boys from different districts have been called to the front, either as members of the National army, as volunteers or in the officers' training camps, and it is but right that the different districts should unite in giving the boys a rousing farewell. They are going fast and it will require quick action, but the celebration would be spontaneous if some organization would lead. What d'ye say?. Start the ball rolling.

Try Dealing With Our Home Business Men.

We ask for our business men, merchants and professionals, a fair deal. Give them a trial, and learn that you can save money, time and annoyance by patronizing them instead of the strangers in the "loop" district. With the lower rents and less overhead expense, our merchants can afford to sell cheaper, and can sell as good merchandise as the city stores if there is a demand for them, as the markets are open to them as well as the department stores. Our banks are solid, substantial and reliable, and our professional men leaders in their professions, so why not deal with your neighbors? It is to the interest of the local men to satisfy their trade, to bring them back, while those who cater largely to transcient trade don't care a clam if they can only get the money on the one sale. The majority who trade away from home have never given the home dealers a chance or learned what they can do, and it is a daily remark of people: "Why, I never knew before that you carried these goods and sold them so reasonable." Next Tuesday will be a sales day, and special efforts will be made to cater to the new customers. Read the advertisements in this issue, and do your shopping and buying at home.

Vagrants Should Be Conscripted.

While thousands of hard-working young men are being taken from their steady positions, the number of vagrants and constitutionally idle fellows seem as numerous as ever. Why cannot these fellows be compelled to go to war? The "out-of-work" chap these days is a loafer, as almost anyone can have employment of some sort, but this element don't want work, and won't work at anything harder than "rushing the can" or loafing about public places, hatching villainy of some sort and preying upon the industrious public. These fellows must eat, and are fairly well-dressed, and unless some foolish parent supplies them, they must steal or rob to get the "wherewith" to continue loafing. All public works and many factories are advertising for men; the harvest fields are suffering for want of men, but these vermin continue to haunt the alleys and by-ways, escaping work and dodging, by some means, the conscription lists. Most of them are young men, and a military or naval training would be the making of them physically and morally, and some means should be devised to give it to them, for their own sakes as well as for the benefit of the country at large.

The People's Liberal Church.

The People's Liberal church is in many ways unique among churches. First, it has the distinction of keeping its minister longer than any other church in this part of the city. Dr. R. A. White, traveler, lecturer and writer, as well as preacher, has been pastor of the People's Liberal church for over 25 years.

Second, it is an independent church. That is, it is not under the domination of any denominational body. Started as a Universalist church, it gradually and naturally grew out of that sectarian fellowship into independency. Its relations with the Universalist denomination, as with all denominations, is cordial, but it owes theological allegiance to none of them. It was early seen that in a great cosmopolitan city like Chicago, a denominational name inevitably set up a restricting and limiting barrier. Many people who were interested in moral problems and in right life and glad to support some organized means of moral and religious influence, would not join the work under a sectarian name. So in the interest of making the church as valuable as possible to the greatest number of people, and to the city, the name was changed, its doors thrown wide open to anyone, irrespective of their religious beliefs who was willing to join in a constructive work for social betterment and moral and spiritual improvement.

The continued success of the church has proven the wisdom of this change.

Third, it is a creedless church. It has a statement, very general, of its beliefs and aims. But no one is obliged to subscribe to these or believe them in order to be a member in good standing of the church and entitled to all its privileges. The church is not indifferent to positive religious convictions. It believes that strong belief of some kind is worth while. But it recognizes the divine right of every thinking man and woman to independently form their own belief. The feeling is that no man or organization has any right to impose a special belief upon thinking people as a requirement for church membership, or limit cooperative action to those who can believe alike.

Therefore, in the People's Liberal church no one is expected to agree with the preacher unless they intellectually feel like doing so. The pews are free to do their own thinking. On the other hand, the pulpit is equally free As there is no restriction upon what the pews may think or believe, there is no restriction upon what the preacher may believe or say. It really aims to be an intellectually free church, without being a mere negation It stands for positive things and beliefs, but exacts intellectual submission of no one.

Fourth, it is not only a church where you think freely but where you may speak freely and without offense. It is the one church that deliberately arranges for an opportunity for the pews to talk back to the pulpit. At the end of any service, anyone who dissents from the preacher's views may come forward to the "fighting corner" and have it out with the preacher before they go home to dinner. When the preacher has some unusually controversial subject under consideration the audience is urged to stay and discuss it freely. Often several hundred avail themselves of the privilege, and the preacher has a chance to "see himself as others see him."

Society has not outgrown the services of the church and religion. In fact, Christianity, interpreted chiefly as the Golden Rule, is the only force that can save the world. Everything else is a makeshift.

Author and Preacher.

Frederick D. Kershner of Cincinnati, O., will fill the pulpit of the Englewood Christian church, Stewart Ave. and 60th Pl., Sunday, September 9. His sermon at 11 a. m. will be: "Christianity and the Restoration Movement," a "movement" for the promotion of which the Christian church specially stands. At 7:45 p. m. the subject will be: "The Supreme Problem of the World War," the all-engrossing theme of the time.

Recently resigned as editor-in-chief of the Christian Evangelist, Mr. Kershner has accepted the position of book editor with the Standard Publishing company, among the leading publishers of America. A treat and a hearty welcome is in store for all who attend these services.

A Cure for Hay Fever.

Editor Englewood Times: Two years ago you published a recipe for the cure of hay fever, which I used, and received great relief from the trouble. Will you please publish it again, for the benefit of myself and other sufferers?

The recipe is an old one, given us years ago, and is as follows:

Calcium chloride crystals. ... ...4 ounces
Distilled water, to make.... ..... . 1 pint
Teaspoonful after each meal, or
Calcium chloride anhydrous.... .2 ounces
Distilled water, to make. ....1 pint
Teaspoonful after each meal.

Monday, Sept. 10—Sydney Ainsworth in "On Trial," from the famous Cohan and Harris stage hit. "On Trial," the most intensely dramatic offering on the stage in recent years, which swept the country with its wide appeal, makes in its production as a superfeature of motion pictures, a play unrivaled for its gripping moments. Imagine a man happily married and the father of a little daughter, accused of murdering his friend. Picture him, a prisoner at the bar of justice, hearing for the first time that his beloved wife before marriage was the dupe of the man he killed. With suspicion resting on her he takes the stand, facing electrocution, to shield her. The trial terminates under the most unexpected and unforseen circumstances. Also Pathe News.

ENGLEWOOD THEATRE

An uproarious upheaval of lingerie and laughter are the principal assets of "The Mile-a-Minute Girls," happily blended with a trinity of mirth, music and dancing, which comes to the Englewood theatre week of September 9, and not one single laugh will be left in the preceding town. A burlesque with a story and plot, and an action that is dynamic, is rarity, but here comes one that possesses both to an extent consistent with good judgment in building a vehicle of this cort.

Singers who can sing, dancers who can dance and comedians who are really humorous, a combination that is as hard to find as it is necessary in this blase age, have been assembled in this, Billy K. Wells' newest offering. A bevy of pretty, shapely girls who can both sing and dance, a quartette of male voices that will remind you of the days of Primrose and West, these and others all contribute to the success of the merry melange. Harry Bentley, the funny German, who heads the cast, is said to be a counterpart of Sam Bernard in his palmiest days. Kitty Garner, with voice of unusual sweetness, is a singer of remarkable ability. Vivian Lawrence, the sunbeam soubrette of the company, contributes a repertoire of character and syncopated songs that has added immeasurably to her popularity. It has been said, with good intent though somewhat exaggerated, that "The Mile-a-Minute Girls" is "the show with a thousand laughs."

NATIONAL THEATRE

"Going Straight," a new and strikingly orginal production, will be the play at the National, the week commencing Sunday matinee, September 9. "Going Straight" is a wholesome lesson, telling as it does that to triumph in the search for wealth, honor and love you must go straight. The play, from a character and scenic standpoint, is one of the most interesting every produced here. The scenery is superb, and the list of characters a long one. There are two crooks, detectives from central headquarters, New York, plain-clothes men, expert cracksmen, an old Italian junk dealer, a girl who has gone wrong and then right again, a druggist and a widow from Barton Falls, the president of the Rainbow Mining company, and a very wicked deacon. The Widow Ramsey is the lucky lady of the piece. The very wicked deacon, supposed to be the most religious and God-fearing man of Barton Falls, tries to rob her of her home through a bogus mortgage and to cheat her out of $300,000 worth of stock in the Rainbow Mining company, but the two reformed crooks come to her rescue, and in the end she falls into her own. The play is punctuated throughout with tears and laughter, and is full of thrills and sensational episodes. One of the funniest scenes is that in which one of the crooks gives the New York detective a roll of marked money and then proceeds to arrest him for taking it, an incident which turns the laugh on the plain-clothes man and puts him out of the running for good.

EMPRESS THEATRE

The Empress theatre's matinees daily are the great attraction and the merry little dime jingles in the till as the merry little maid hands out the admission tickets and the vast audiences put in several pleasant hours in being entertained by the varied attractions genial Manager Harry Mitchell provides for them. The great big house is one of the most comfortable in the city as well as of largest seating capacity. In fact, the large audiences are the secret of the good shows, as smaller houses could not afford the class of attractions the Empress gives at the little dime figure. The bill changes so often that new attractions are always bubbling up like water from a clear spring, and a visit either afternoon or evening is always enjoyable. In fact the dismissal of an Empress audience is noticeable on Halsted St. as a crowd of smiling people almost create a stampede on that busy thoroughfare. Of course we don't claim we are the only show on earth, but we are one of the best, and at the prices we ask we have no equal and stand ready to prove it any day or evening.

Appreciating the fact that people tire of all pictures and even all vaudeville, we combine the two, and even introduce programs which may not be included as either, our sole aim being to give our patrons just what they want in a melange of talent that will not tire but amuse and interest and awake the risibles to the titilation that ends in a guffaw and a laugh.

Body Crumbled to Pieces.

A boy aged seven died at Zurich of old age. His case was exceptionally unique, for he was the youngest member of a family who had won local repute as athletes. The eldest brother was a first-class boxer, whilst the younger had won many prizes on the sports-ground. Doctors from all parts of Europe flocked to Zurich to try and diagnose its cause and effect a successful cure, but in vain.

A few days before this unfortunate child's death his teeth actually crumbled to pieces and his flesh began to rot. His eyes were found to be the size of a shoe button and his bones as brittle as glass.

Work on the new Lindblom high school is being rushed and it is hoped to have it inclosed by winter.

Please remember to sign the local news you send us, and get it to us by Wednesday if possible.

Owing to rush of local matter at the last moment our serial story is omitted this week.

Mrs. Daniel Sullivan, who died at her son's home, 815 73d St., Monday, was buried Wednesday from St. Leo's church. Interment was at Mt. Olivet.

Oak index card cases complete, box, cards and indices at special price of 45 cents, at Frank Kellner's, 443 W. 63d St., just east of post office.—(Adv.)

Owing to the Dollar Day advertisements in this issue, the local reading matter is of necessity scattered about, and may not be found in its usual place.

Money to loan, any amount, on diamonds, watches, jewelry, at low rates. Strictly confidential. Sandacks, 6217 Halsted St.—(Adv.)

There was a very large enrollment of all the schools Tuesday. It is a job to build the schools fast enough to keep up with the growth of their attendance. There is no race suicide belief in this favored district.

In the ads of the Stuckey Prescription drug store will be found an interesting series of advices of "The Everwells." Read them and heed the pointers.

Mr. and Mrs. James Eastman, John Foster, Art Pratt and William McDonald spent the Labor day and week's end holiday at Lake Zurich. They had a very enjoyable time and had only the mud after a heavy storm to complain of.

Joseph Brackin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Brackin of 1719 67th St., died at their home Friday last and was buried Monday from St. Mary of Mt. Carmel church. Interment was at Mt. Olivet cemetery.

Marquette Rd is now open through from Ashland Ave. west to Leavitt St., or the B. & O. railroad crossing. It makes an elegant drive now from Jackson park, and almost any of the streets from Honore or Winchester Ave. east may be taken to connect with Garfield Blvd.

The odd strips of Marquette Rd. from Morgan St. to Racine Ave. and from Loomis Blvd. to Ashland Ave. should be completed now, to finish the complete system. It looks bad to have these quarter-mile patches of rough streets between the well-paved and lighted strips.

A merry trio, composed of "Sandy" Sandberg, "Big" Lynd and Fred Holmberg spent the week's end and Labor day in the Michigan woods near Harbert, Mich. One night they enjoyed a "coon" hunt and the fatigue caused the next largest member of the party to oversleep and make a mistake in the haste of making his toilet in time to get down for breakfast. We have heard that the "coon" was a belated groundhog from last February, and others say it was a most malodorous polecat. At any rate, the "boys" got back Tuesday and have not been saying a word since, although Upside-Down Johnson is after them for news.

Thursday and Friday, Sept. 6 and 7—Mary Pickford in "The Little American." The story deals with the present great war and offers various surprises that, when seen on the screen, will disclose remarkable effects. As the little American girl marooned in a French chateau while the battle surges around her, "Little Mary" is given an opportunity to display the wonderful dramatic ability with which she is gifted.

Marguerite Clark as a Tomboy in "The Amazons."

Although the story deals with the war, it is not of the same type as the ordinary war drama, as it deals more with the intimate than with the general. In keeping with the talents of the star an exceptionally capable supporting cast appears in this production, including such well-known players as Hobart Bosworth, Jack Holt, James Neill, Raymond Hatton, Guy Oliver, Edythe Chapman, Lillian Leighton, Walter Long, Dewitt Jennings and little Ben Alexander.

Extra special, two days, Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 8-9, continuous 2 to 11 p. m.—Direct from the loop. First showing on the South side, Marguerite Clark, in her latest and greatest triumph, "The Amazons," an adaptation of the tremendous Broadway success, in which Billie Burke startled New York. By the famous dramatist, Sir Arthur Wing Pinero: An unsurpassed combination—the best selection of the dramas by a famous author and a brilliant star of unequaled talent. A farce comedy and an intensely dramatic episode.

Monday, Sept. 10, matinee and evening—Alice Joyce and Harry Morey in "Richard the Brazen." For plain, every-day American resourcefulness you'll have to hand the palm to Richard. He saw a girl in a London chop house and in his pursuit of her there was never a moment that he wasn't up to his ears in adventure of the most thrilling description. The girl had her share, too. If you want to sit on the edge of your seats and laugh and gasp with excitement just come and follow Alice Joyce and Harry Morey in "Richard the Brazen." Also chapter No. 13 of "The Neglected Wife" and a scream of a comedy.

Tuesday, Sept. 11, matinee and night—The most celebrated young star in America, Viola Dana, in a new Metro wonder play, "The Girl Without a Soul." Another of her appealingly clever characterizations, this time taking the parts of twin sisters. The love of one sister for the village blacksmith, and the infatuation of the the other for an unscrupulous musician who tries to make a thief of her make an interesting tangle that is cleverly unravelled. Also Burton Holmes' travel pictures. Added attraction, little Mary McAllister. Fourth of the very interesting complete stories, "Do Children Count?" and a Christie comedy.

Extra special, direct from the loop, two days, Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 12-13, matinees and evening—America's premier stage comedienne, lovely Billie Burke, assisted by Thomas Meighan, in Gellett Burgess' great story, "The Mysterious Miss Terry," a love story with a mystery, a comedy with a human turn, a photoplay that is different. Seldom, if ever, can we offer to our patrons a bigger attraction than this one with a famous star, written by a famous author. We suggest your coming early in order to insure better comfort. Also Paramount Pictograph, Pathe and latest Weekly. First run.

At the "Harvard Beautiful," Wednesday and Thursday, September 12 and 13, Matinee and Evening.

Special, one day only, Sept. 15, matinee and night—First time on the South side, Sessue Hayakawa, in Wallace Irwin's satiating, funny stories of the Japanese schoolboy, "Hashimura Togo," one of the most enjoyable comedies of the season, produced by the master producer, Cecil B. DeMille. The comedy element in this play has been interspersed with many dramatic situations. Sessue Hayakawa, as "Togo," makes the part a real living characterization.

TRIANGLE THEATRE

7219 Wentworth Ave.

Where the better photoplays are shown first. Open daily 6:30 to 11 p. m. Sundays Continuous 2 to 11 p. m.

Friday, Sept. 7, 6:30 to 11 p. m., seats 5 and 10 cents—Theodore Roberts and Kathlyn Williams are for the first time appearing together, and this should prove an unusually strong stellar combination. "The Cost of Hatred" is a powerful, virile story of the lifelong search of a great, passionate domineering personality, for revenge, and the fulfillment of it is indeed thrilling. Also a Cub comedy and Paramount-Bray Pictograph.

Saturday, Sept. 8, matinee 2:30, continuous until 11 p. m. Admission, matinees, 10 cents; children, 5 cents; evening, adults, 15 cents; children, 10 cents—Greater Vitagraph presents the great preparedness spectacle, "Womanhood, the Glory of the Nation," featuring Alice Joyce and Harry Morey and an all-star cast. A story that has roused thousands to frenzied enthusiasm; a story that strikes the hearts of a hundred millions of Americans—now—for preparedness, for war, for patriotism. The one big appeal to all. See this great spectacle, and see the conditions that confront us today.

In "Womanhood" Saturday, Sept. 8, Matinee and Night.

In "Womanhood" Saturday, Sept. 8, Matinee and Night.

Sunday, Sept. 9, matinee and night, 2 until 11 p. m., continuous. The usual big double-header. Admission, 5 and 10 cents—Pauline Frederick in "Audrey," from the famous novel and play. Pauline Fredericks has done much clever work in this picture—don't miss it. Mack Sennett Keystone comedy, "Her Nature Dance," featuring Fritz Schade and Alice Lake. Burton Holmes' Travelogue and special dramatic feature.

How an Editor Goes to Sleep.

Here is a remedy for sleeplessness that is declared by a newspaper editor to have never failed him: He starts thinking of all the words he can remember that begin with A. When he has exhausted the A's he starts on the B's, and so on. At first he generally reached the ninth and even tenth letters before being rewarded, but now he has not completed the A's before he is sleeping as soundly as a two-year-old.

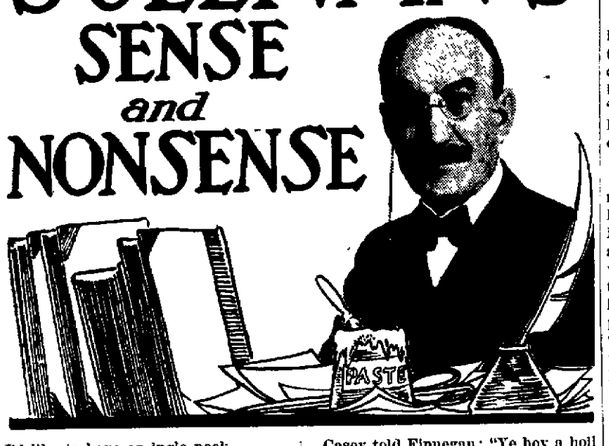
SULLIVAN'S SENSE and NONSENSE



I'd like to have an ingle nook,
A double one or single,
Where I could sit and read a book—
But then I have no ingle!

If I knew where the welkin is,
Or if some one could bring it,
I'd make it cheerfully my business to go and ring it.

Could I secure a hue and cry—
I don't know how one plays it—
But anyway, I'd gladly try,
And willingly, to raise it.

Casey says: "About the use iv glasses, it awl depinds whether ye use thim over or under yer nose."

"Whin a bachelor teks oop a paper he always luks under the marriages to see the news of the weak," says Casey.

If our friend "T. R." was in power it would be fun to watch what he would do to Mayor Thompson and the pacifists.

Heard on an Englewood street this week: "Augustus kum in fr your dinner, your fader is on de table alreadty, but hos hali eat himself yet."

Casey says: "There does be thim thot says a mon kin be driven to drink, boot Oi've notised thot it takes a pull to git him away frum it."

"Mabel, you must sit still while you are at the table," commanded the mother to her offspring, and the young one with another wriggle said: "I can't, mamma, you see I'm a fidgetarian."

Casey told Finnegan: "Ye hov a boil on the back iv yer neck, an' Oi'd advise yez to kape yer eye on it."

"The mon thot is bent on mathrimony ginerally gits sthraightened oop afterwards," remarks Mr. Casey.

Casey has discovered that the reason some men call their wives "Honey" is because in the new fashion they have so much comb in their head.

"Bill" Schleizer made a hit with his show window this week, when he made a fine display of soups, and then put in a sign reading, "Cheaper than dirt."

Now that there is a lull in the political campaign, will some one please solve the important question of "whether a hen lays an egg because it wants to, or because it has to."

Some one reported at the police station that a certain well-known milliner had lost $300 from a bursting hose. "Shure it sarves her roight," said Casey. "She hod no business carryin' so much money in her stockin'."

"By the way, how did you come out with that drink cure you put in your husband's tea?" asked the lady friend. "He hasn't drank a drop since," was her answer. "Of whisky?" came the query. "No, of tea," was the disgusted reply.

The doctor had just returned from Billy Link's home over on Sangamon St after an important call and his friend, knowing the nature of the visit asked: "Well what kind of a Link have they now?" and was answered: "It isn't a Link it's a whole chain. It's triplets."

"Your case would have been strong enough, Casey," said the lawyer, "if you had acted only on the defensive. But you struck first. If you had let him strike you first you would have had the law on your side." "Yes," said Casey, "Oi'd have had the law on my side, but Oi'd have had him on me stomach pounding the loife out av me."

Speaking of a recent Englewood volunteer, Casey remarked: "He will be makin' a moighty good souldier, sure Oi heard him talk back to his mither-in-law, an' thot is bravery fer ye."

"Are you going to make a flower bed here, Judkins?" asked a young lady of the gardener. "Yes, miss; them's the orders," answered the gardener. "Why, it'll quite spoil our croquet ground." "Can't help it, miss; them's the orders. He says he'll have it laid out for horticulture, not for husbandry!"

Doctor—"Well, how did your wife manage the shower bath, deacon?" Deacon—"She had real good luck. Mme. Moody told her how she managed. She had a large oiled silk cap, with a cape to it, like a fisherman's, that came all over her shoulders and head." Doctor—"She's a fool for her pains. That's not the way." Deacon—"So my wife thought." Doctor—"Your wife did nothing of the sort, I hope." Deacon—"Oh, no; she used an umbrella."

Among the season's crop of fair young debutantes were twin sisters whose ravishing blonde loveliness and striking resemblance to each other were constant topics of conversation. One evening a young man of their circle was approached by a friend, who remarked confidentially: "I hear, Chester, that you are practically engaged to one of those peachy twins." Young Chester, with a smile, admitted that he was. "Well, tell me," asked the friend, "how in the world can you tell them apart?" "I don't try to," was the reply.

"Have you taken anything for your cold?" asked the doctor of a long, lank, hungry-looking man who came to him complaining of being "all run down," his appearance verifying his words. "Well, I ain't bin takin' much o' anythin', doctor; that is, nothin' to speak of. I tuk a couple o' bottles o' 'Binkham's bitters' a while back an' a couple o' 'Quackman's Invigorator,' with a couple o' boxes of 'Curem's pills,' and a lot o' root bitters an' quinine my old woman made up. I've got a porous plaster on my back an' a liver pad on, an' I'm wearin' a 'lectric belt, an' takin' quinine an' iron four times a day, with a dose or two of salts every other day; 'ceptin' for that, I ain't takin' nothin'!"

Man's Aspirations.

The more a man knows the clearer becomes his consciousness of ignorance. The greater his virtues the more keenly sensible is he of his defects. The nearer he approaches to perfection the more strongly does he feel that his aspirations can only be fully realized in the great hereafter.—Exchange.

Archaeological Discovery.

A most important archaeological discovery was made recently in Gonnoi, near the Vale of Temple in Thessaly. The Archaeological society unearthed what is plainly a sanctuary to the goddess Artemis, and among the articles found on the spot are some of the most remarkable votive offerings yet discovered in the history of research.

DOLLAR DAY SEPT. 11.

Every merchant on 63d St. is preparing for the bargain sale event of the year, the great Dollar Day, Tuesday, September 11, and the Times will carry a line of the leading merchants' ads making their announcements in its issue of September 7.

The "Dollar" idea is not confined to single articles to sell for that price, but means a saving of Dollars in many forms, and is the regular annual offering of our merchants to neighboring trade, to convince you that our home merchants can and will give you as good bargains in any line as can be secured in the "loop" stores.

Every merchant joining in this sale will display the official card in his window, and has pledged himself to abide by the rules of the greatest bargain day Englewood people have ever enjoyed.

Englewood C. & C. Association Go to Kankakee Fair.

It took eight auto's to take the members of the Englewood Commercial and Civic association and their friends to Kankakee Wednesday. They made an early start and the ride was a pleasant one, the 70 miles being covered in some less than three hours. The delegation was met at Springfield by Supreme Court Clerk Chas. W. Vail, and his smiling face did considerable to wipe out the disgrace of being taken as part of the Wilhelm Hohenzollern Thompson escort. Representatives Lyle and VanDuser, former Senator Lundberg and numerous other leading Republican lights were there, but our crowd were not in for politics and had a good time. George Dow sized up a pumpkin as a rare sort of orange, Elmer Tyner watched for the grasshopper to make grass, and the usual bucolic pleasures. The gentleman cow was viewed modestly and fearfully, but all of the delegation were allowed to come home in peace, although there was some machines in pieces. The ladies added greatly to the pleasure of the occasion, and the affair was a success. Some bad judgment was shown in picking winners in the horse races, and some laundry bills will go unpaid.

Sudden Growth.

Little Jean had been promised she might go to school when she was five years old. This, with some other promises of similar nature, made her feel she would be a very large girl when she reached that age, so the morning of her fifth birthday, when her mother told her to put on the same dress she had worn the day previous, she said in astonishment: "Why, mamma, do you s'pose it will be big enough?"

Youthful Philosophy.

"My mother is much prettier than your mother," proudly declared Hazel. "No she isn't; she isn't half as pretty as my mamma. I've got the prettiest mother in the whole world!" proclaimed Nellie. Hazel was staggered for a moment and then complacently remarked: "Well, it isn't so much what we has as what we thinks we has that counts, I s'pose."

One of the distinctive features of the new Cunningham building is the ecclesiastical style of the architecture, especially in the chapel. The windows with their trefoil and quatrefoil caps, the capitals and cruciform ornaments are evident in most appropriate places, and the interior will be decorated in the soft harmonizing tones of the private chapels described in foreign stories. Priedieux of cathedral design and chapel-like pews will make the ensemble complete and verify the claims of Mr. Cunningham as "the finest private chapel in the land." The store rooms and second floor offices are assuming shape and will be very desirable for commercial and professional purposes. Taken as a whole, it is the most beautiful business structure in the city.
